EXECUTIVE SAYS JAPS MUST QUIT ACTION IN CHINA

Retaliation Will Come At Once, President Tells Press Conference

OTHER REPORTS HEARD Several Instances Cited In Statement; "Inhuman Form Of Warfare" Played

WASHINGTON, June 5—President Roosevelt served formal notice on Japan today that its continued use of poison gas against the Chinese would result in retaliation by the United States.

The President said he desired to "make this unmistakably clear," as he excoriated the Japanese for resorting to this "inhuman form of warfare."

The President said the United States was in possession of "authoritative reports" concerning several instances in which the Japs used gas in the China campaign.

"We shall be prepared to enforce complete retribution," the President said.

"Upon Japan will rest the responsibility."

Statement Read

The President, in measured tones, read the following terse statement to his press conference: "Authoritative reports are reaching this government of the use by Japanese armed forces in various localities of China of poisonous or noxious gases."

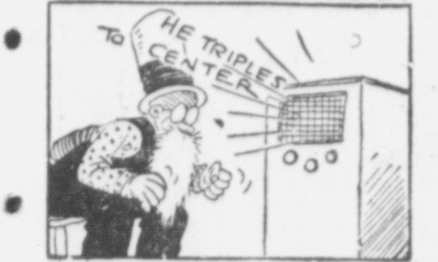

"I desire to make it unmistakably clear that, if Japan persists in this inhuman form of warfare against China or any other of the United Nations, such action will be reached by this government as though taken against the United States, and retaliation in kind and in full measure will be meted out. We shall be prepared to enforce complete retribution."

A reporter inquired whether this government had received any information on the use of poison gas on any of the European battlefronts.

Others Unconfirmed

The President replied that such reports had been received, but they were not yet authoritative.

In response to further questions, Mr. Roosevelt said he believed Great Britain had taken the same position with respect to German or Italian use of gas as that which he laid down today to Japan.

Paulette Divorces Chaplin

Charles Chaplin and His ex-Wife

JUAREZ, Mexico—The often-rumored, often denied separation of Paulette Goddard and Charles Chaplin was a matter of legal fact today after a Juarez civil court granted the movie actress a divorce from the famous comedian. Judge Xavier Rosas Y Ceballos, in issuing the Mexican decree yesterday, stated his decision was based on an uncontested plea of "incompatibility of characters" as entered by Miss Goddard. Neither Chaplin nor the actress was present in court. The couple was married in Canton, China, in June, 1936.

The strike was called last Monday in Buffalo and spread to Detroit. It was called during negotiations between the company and three AFL unions and a major issue was how many persons should be employed on the Buffalo docks. Higher wages were sought by the unions too, the company said.

The company, spokesman said the agreement was reached during a conference in Washington but he did not state whether resumption of traffic meant a settlement of all issues or merely a temporary truce.

About 300 men in Detroit and 300 in Cleveland and Buffalo, combined, were involved in the strike.

House Goes To Work On Allotment Measure

WASHINGTON, June 5—The House today began consideration of a Senate-approved bill providing cash aid to families of soldiers and sailors and clearing the way for conscription of married men if they are needed by the armed forces.

Sponsored by Sen. Johnson (D) Col., the measure passed the upper house unanimously. In final form it carried an amendment by the military affairs committee stripping Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt of power to pay unlimited additional sums to some families.

The total allotment to each family or dependent will be made up of a government payment and a deduction from the pay of the Army, Navy, Marine or Coast Guard member.

Dependents themselves are divided into A and B classifications. The A group includes wives, children and former wives who have not remarried and are entitled to alimony. The B group includes parents, grandparents, grandchildren, brothers and sisters.

Payments to class A dependents are compulsory while allotments for class B dependents are optional.

Allotments Listed

Under class A, the measure provides a monthly allotment of $50 to wives of service men, with $22 of the total taken out of the husband's pay and $28 supplied by the government. In addition the government would provide $12 monthly for one dependent child and $10 extra for each additional dependent child.

Allowances for class B dependents run from $20 to $47 a month. For one parent, the allowance is $37; for two parents, $47; for a parent and a brother or sister, $42; for one parent and two brothers or sisters, $47.

an enemy battleship and aircraft carrier had definitely been hit and other warships in the attacking force probably damaged.

"A heavy toll was taken on attacking planes," the communique declared.

"Our attacks on the enemy are continuing."

Meanwhile from the southwest Pacific came cheering news that United Nations air forces had sunk two and possibly three more Japanese submarines which have been attempting to prey on the convoy routes from the United States to Australia. One Dutch and two Aussie air squadrons located the enemy raids at widely separated points and blasted them with bombs, said a communique from General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters.

These attacks raised to six, and possibly seven, the toll of Japanese submarines sunk in the Australian area since Sunday, when four midget submarines were destroyed in an abortive raid on Sydney harbor.

Japs Raid Diego Suarez

An official British announcement revealed that Japanese submarines had made an unsuccessful attempt on May 30 to raid Diego Suarez on the northern tip of the French island of Madagascar, recently seized by English fleet and Commando units to forestall Japanese occupation.

WAAC Officials Being Driven Wacky By Applicants; 300,000 Registered

By DREW PEARSON and
ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, June 5—Thousands of determined women, eager to don the WAAC uniform, are driving WAAC officials wacky.

The campaign for enlistments in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps has succeeded too well. Major Oveta Culp Hobby and her chief lieutenants, Mrs. Arthur Woods and Mrs. Genevieve Forbes Herriek, have a bear by the tail and they know it.

Sad truth is that there cannot possibly be more than 500 WAAC officer-candidates taken in now. No "auxiliaries," that is, non-officer WAAC's, can be recruited until the officers have been trained, possibly around September 15. The greatest number of WAAC's that can be taken in this year is estimated at 25,000, and all of these will be subjected to a minimum of four weeks' training. This leaves some 275,000 disappointed would-be WAAC's out of an estimated registration of 300,000.

Toughest job of all falls upon the chief recruiting officers in the nine Army Corps areas. It is their job to sort out the WAAC registrants and select the lucky women. Those chosen then must face a series of very stiff aptitude tests and physical examinations before they are finally inducted.

CAPTURED JAP SWORD

It looks as if the sulphuric personal relations between Philippine President Quezon and Philippine High Commissioner Francis Sayre will have to be toned down a bit for the sake of Philippine unity. Trouble between them started the day President Quezon landed in San Francisco, at which time he telephoned long distance to a former Governor General of the Philippines now in Washington.

"Governor," said Quezon, "my sword, my sword!"

"What sword?" was the puzzled query.

"That Japanese sword the High Commissioner gave to President Roosevelt. He said it was from Gen. MacArthur, but it was from me. One of our Philippine officers took it from a dead Japanese, and I sent it back to the President by Sayre."

Note—Returning to the United States some weeks ahead of Quezon, High Commissioner Sayre had presented Roosevelt with a Japanese officer's sword. Newspaper accounts quoted Sayre as saying the sword had been sent by General MacArthur. Apparently there was a clear-cut misunderstanding.

SHAKY CHINA

Chinese leaders in Washington are not shouting it from the rooftops, but behind closed doors they are doing some tough talking to the effect that an increasing number of Chinese are getting discouraged about the war and would like to see some kind of appeasement with Japan. Chinese leaders give this as the reason why China must have airplanes — and have them immediately.

The Chinese don't demand a lot of planes. But they do say that even a small fraction of the munitions going to Russia would work wonders in bolstering China.

Here is the Chinese picture now being presented to U. S. war strategists. After five years of war, the Chinese are war weary. Most discouraging thing is the ironical fact that the Chinese are worse off now, with Allies, than they were before, fighting alone. The Chinese were delighted after Pearl Harbor because it meant they had a powerful ally against Japan. But now after six months of it, they almost wish they had been left to hold out alone.

That is why recent reverses in Burma and along the China coast have shaken Chinese determination down to the foundation.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is not weakening. But many Chinese are, especially the well-to-do class, the people who yearn for restoration of normal business, who would rather have a chance to make money and live peacefully even under the Japs than to pay the frightful cost of continued war.

Meanwhile, Japan seems determined to crush China now. Apparently the U. S. bombing raids on Tokyo scared the Japs sick, made them see the danger of nearby Chinese bases, caused them to shift their strategy to cleaning up China ahead of other war fronts.

U. S. war chiefs realize the urgency of the situation, but also face vital demands from Russia, the new 2nd Front in Europe, and MacArthur. But now it looks as if promises made to China two months ago finally will be fulfilled.

NATION-WIDE GAS RATIONING

There may be divided opinion through the country regarding the need for nation-wide gasoline rationing, especially in the South, now glutted with surplus oil. But there is no divided opinion in the Office of Price Administration. A nation-wide plan is being drawn up in full detail, and announcement will be made soon.

Basic reason is that gas rationing is the only way to conserve rubber, which OPA officials describe as "our most precious and irreplaceable national resource today."

The nation-wide system will differ radically from the plan now in effect in the Eastern States. Outstanding difference will be the "flow-back control."

This will require that a filling station operator tear coupons from the driver's book every time gasoline is sold. And the dealer must surrender these coupons to the bulk station before he can get a replenishment of supplies. The bulk station, in turn, must pass along the coupons, or a certified statement covering them, to the refinery.

Thus every drop of gasoline will be accounted for, and a complete check will be had on distribution, from the refinery to the individual gas tank.

The system is frankly a scheme to force drivers to save their tires, even in areas where gasoline is a drug on the market.

POLITICAL GO-ROUND

Authorities have received complaints that General Robert Wood and Thomas Hammond, ex-America First leaders, are quietly working for the re-election of isolationist Senator "Curley" Brooks — despite the fact that they are civilian officials of the Army's Chicago Ordnance branch. Complaints are based on the Hatch Act, which bars federal employees from political activity. . . . Energetic Representative Bill Jacobson of Iowa is the possessor of a potent campaign argument. He has obtained more war contracts for his district than all the other Iowa districts combined. Jacobson is being opposed by a president of two banks.

ASHVILLE

First pea packing for the season began at the local Crites plant June 3, the hulled product being trucked in from a viner in outside territory. The quality, if appearance counts, was very fine. Last year the pea pack began here on May 30.

Big tank loads of road spreading tarvia have been moving out from the railway station here for the last few days. And according to one of the tank operators, it is all going East for the Pickaway-Fairfield county line road, North to the Franklin county line.

A shipment by parcel post of 100 baby chicks arrived at the local postoffice from some point out in the West and the one to whom they were assigned refused the lot because of not being what he had ordered. So there was a bunch of little orphans for Postmaster Smith to dispose of and this proved to be of not much trouble at all. Mrs. Jack Rhodes up on Long street was glad to get them at a moderate price and in a couple of months or so there'll be a fine flock of chicken fries at the Rhodes chicken quarters and all because somebody made a mistake at the shipping end of the deal. "It is an ill wind that blows nobody good," they say.

D. E. (Ed) Ruff brought a perfectly good and nice camera, snapshot style, all the way from his home North of South Bloomfield to Ashville the other day, the picture outfit aboard the running board of his auto. Some smooth glider that auto of his. The owner of the camera Bud Sampall, had taken a "snapshot" of one of Ed's fine calves and laid his picture taker where it got a ride to town. But Bud lost no time in getting here to claim his prize, and unharmed.

Francis Reid, one of the force of operators at the Ashville bank, with his wife, is vacationing somewhere in Michigan this week.

quite well patronized and not "rained out" this time.

Ashville headquarters had a guest candidate for county representative in the person of Harry B. Welch, Circleville. Know for sure, and agreed with him, that he has some job just ahead in contacting the many voters of the county before primary election day next August 14.

21 KILLED, 25 HURT IN BLAST AT ARMY PLANT

Munitions Workers Victims Of Explosion At Ordnance Factory In Illinois

lighted the sky above the plant and the earth rocked for miles around.

The shock was felt as far distant as Chicago, 40 miles away, and was reported also to have been felt in Waukegan, Ill., 67 miles to the North.

In cities nearer by, windows were shattered and plaster knocked from the walls of homes and other buildings.

Destruction at the ordnance works, however, was localized by the layout of the $30,000,000 plant, each unit of which is complete in itself. The buildings are spread out over an area of several miles to prevent an explosion in one building resulting in explosions in others.

Curiously, there was little damage to windows in the village of Elwood, at one edge of the reservation, although at points 20 to 25 miles away house windows and store plate glass windows were blown in.

Over 8,000 Employed

The factory, covering 23 square miles, began production of munitions in the Fall of 1941, two months ahead of schedule. It was constructed in 10 months. More than 8,000 persons are employed on three shifts.

At the time the works opened, Lt. Col. T. C. Gerber, then the director, termed it the largest operating ordnance plant in the world and the first of the government's new midwestern arsenals to produce certain types of munitions.

Hurry calls were put in for doctors, nurses and ambulances to Joliet, Kankakee and other surrounding cities.

COLOGNE

Saturday night were still burning on Wednesday—four days later.

"Tens of thousands" of the city's inhabitants were hit by the disaster, the article declared.

Another said delayed action bombs had caused widespread terror as well as great damage. Air compression created by the fall of the bombs was powerful enough to level surrounding buildings, he said, and subsequent explosion of the bomb completed the devastation.

Several days are usually required before the Cologne refugees will tell the real story of the raid. First they insist that all the bombs were duds, but eventually they open up and say they never want to experience such a night again. One description said buildings in the center of the business district were beaten flat like ripe wheat in a hailstorm.

Sheatsley, foreign missions executive secretary, also informed the men that the church had given missionaries in New Guinea and India permission to leave but all have decided to remain in their foreign assignments.

Edwin L. Hunt, 19, of Saltcreek township, was arrested Thursday by the sheriff's offices on charges placed by the Army that he was absent over leave from his training camp in Virginia.

Young Hunt had been given a furlough to visit with his parents and was to have been back in camp May 25. Instead of returning he was found in a barn where he has lived since that date.

He will be held pending arrival of Army officers.

GOLFERS IN LEEWAY

WASHINGTON, June 5—Golfers got a month's leeway on getting new clubs today. The WPB's division of industry operations extended from May 31 to June 30 the time when manufacturers must cease making golf clubs from their inventories of iron and steel which had been fabricated for clubs prior to April 9, when production restrictions were imposed.

F. D. R. SUMMONS ADVISERS TO AIR QUESTION OF GAS

WASHINGTON, June 5 — As President Roosevelt convened a conference of high government officials to discuss the question of nation-wide gasoline rationing, a bi-partisan group of 100 congressmen today made an eleventh-hour effort to forestall the blanket program by going formally on record against it until Congress has been informed of the facts.

Called together by Rep. Scrugham (D) Nev., the group voted unanimously to appoint a five-man committee to confer with Price Administrator Leon Henderson, WPB officials and the White House to "make sure that unnecessary rationing is not thrust on the nation."

As the congressmen were staging their protest meeting, Mr. Roosevelt convened his conference without a single legislative leader invited to it. Meeting with the chief executive were Henderson, Secretary of Commerce Jones, Oil Coordinator Ickes, WPB Chief Donald Nelson, Budget Director Harold Smith, Transportation Director Joseph B. Eastman, Wayne Coy, executive director of the Office of Emergency Management, Archibald MacLeish, director of the Office of Facts and Figures, Arthur Newhall, rubber czar, and Joel Dean, an assistant to Henderson.

The meeting held by the congressmen was marked by angry attacks on officials of the executive branch.

SOLONS TO VOTE FATE OF C. C. C., N. Y. A. PROJECTS

WASHINGTON, June 5 — The House votes today on the issue of whether to continue the functions of the Civilian Conservation Corps and the National Youth Administration or to abolish the two favored projects of President Roosevelt by stripping them of necessary funds.

Rep. Tarver, (D) Ga., said he felt his amendment restoring the $75,000,000 appropriation for the Civilian Conservation Corps in the labor-federal security appropriation bill had a "very good chance" of approval. The House appropriations committee knocked the CCC funds from the $1,134,269,000 bill.

Tarver and Rep. Hare (D) S. S., both indicated confidence that the drive to eliminate the National Youth Administration from the measure would fail.

COMMANDER OF 'WHITE SHIRTS' FIGHTS PRISON

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 5—George W. Christians, 53-year-old commander of the Crusader White Shirts, today sought a new trial following his conviction in federal court on four counts charging sedition.

Attorneys for Christians immediately filed a motion for a new trial and Judge Leslie Darr withheld sentencing pending a hearing on the motion Monday. Maximum penalty would be 20 years imprisonment and a fine of not more than $10,000 on each of the four counts.

It was the first sedition trial since the United States entered the war. The indictments charged Christians had mailed letters and printed matter to members of the armed forces in an effort to damage morale and interfere with the enlistment program.

Taking the stand in his own defense, Christians denied that he ever intended to use force to put his economic theories into practice and asserted that most of his literature should be read with a "sense of humor."

JURY STUDYING CHARGE CITING EX-TEACHER, 51

CLARKESVILLE, Ga., June 5 —Fate of Mrs. Flossie Thomas, 51-year-old former school teacher, on trial on charges of fatally poisoning William D. Baker, rested with the jury today.

The state contends Mrs. Thomas poisoned Baker because of jealousy over having lost the affections of her own husband, F. Dennis Thomas, to Mrs. Baker. Only defense offered by Mrs. Thomas was a written statement read to the jury, in which she denied her guilt.

Highlight of the state's case was the testimony of Gracie Baker, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Baker, who told the jury that before the Baker family, accompanied by Thomas, left Clarksville for Arizona last year Mrs. Thomas gave Baker some "headache powders" which made him very ill.

Dr. Herman Jones, member of the faculty of the medical school at Oglethorpe university in Atlanta, testified yesterday sufficient poison was found in Baker's body to cause his death.

NIMITZ REPORTS FIGHT GOING ON

but the British admiralty flatly denied that any British warship had been damaged.

The sudden surge of Japanese naval and air forces over wide areas of the Pacific, ranging from Dutch Harbor, Alaska, to the coast of Africa, indicated that the enemy was "on the move," said Washington observers.

From just what direction the next heavy blow might come was uncertain, but observers pointed out that it was not the Japanese custom to make sporadic attacks without adequate follow-up.

All American outposts were on the alert, in readiness for any strategy that might be developing. Observers pointed out that Japan's "grand strategy" in its Pacific campaign must be based on subjugation of Alaska, the Panama canal and Hawaii, with Hawaii the prime objective.

Therefore the presence of what appeared to be a strong Japanese force off Midway Island suggested an effort to reduce this tiny but vital toll preparatory to an assault on our fortified Hawaiian bases.

U. S. Fleet Adequate

Admiral Nimitz's communique said the enemy force consisted of battleships, cruisers and destroyers in escort of aircraft carriers, whose planes had carried out the assault on Midway. Strength of the American forces engaging the Japanese warships was not disclosed, but the announcement that it was continuing to attack indicated that it was regarded adequate to deal with the situation.

On the European front the RAF resumed daylight raids on the French coastal area following night raids on docks at Dieppe and airdromes in Holland. The first squadrons of fighters and light bombers roared over the channel in the early morning, returning two hours later. Then another force took up the attack.

Daylight raids have been stepped up to a point where more than 1,000 British planes are participating daily in the attacks, it was announced.

More than 500 British and axis tanks and thousands of motorized vehicles were massed around Knightsbridge, 28 miles southwest of Tobruk in the Libyan desert, where Nazi Gen. Erwin Rommel was reported attempting to reform his armored units to resume the offensive. A series of fierce tank battles was under way as the British fought to cut the axis supply lines and frustrate Rommel's plans.

Rzhev Move Nipped

The Russian front was comparatively quiet. Frontline dispatches said the Red armies had smashed a German offensive at Rzhev in a battle that cost the Germans "thousands of casualties."

both classes, the scale of allowances for class B dependents is lower. A parent, in this case, would receive only $5 from the soldier and $15 from the government. Two parents would receive a total of $30; one parent and a brother or sister $25 and one parent and two sisters $30.

The Selective Service provisions of the allotment bill leave only two general types in class 3-A. The first type includes registrants with wives, children or both who can prove bona fide relationship in the home and were married before the declaration of war and when draft was not imminent. The second type includes registrants who have purely financial dependents whose status could not be maintained even with the allotments.

Take 1-A Group First

In this connection, the committee report recommended that neither of these two groups be touched until substantially all the 1-A men have been called.

When it becomes necessary to take some of the men in class 3-A power is given to reclassify groups as in the past.

First class 3-A married men subject to call should be those with no children, and the last should be those with dependents and engaged in war work, the committee said.

160 CASES OF SICKNESS STUDIED AT CAMP CUSTER

FORT CUSTER, Mich., June 5 —Whether 160 cases of catarrhal jaundice among soldiers at Fort Custer were caused by yellow fever inoculations was being studied today by a special medical board.

Fort officials said that none of the men afflicted and hospitalized is in serious condition.

Heading the medical board was Dr. Thomas S. Francis of the University of Michigan, an epidemic disease expert.

The sickness was first disclosed in Washington yesterday by Secretary of War Stimson.

HITLER'S VISIT TO MANNERHEIM OF IMPORTANCE

LONDON, June 5—Official Berlin announcements concerning Hitler's surprise visit to Finland stress the point that the Nazi dictator went to felicitate Field Marshal Carl Gustav Mannerheim on the occasion of his 75th birthday, but informed circles in London today saw more significant motives.

Hitler seldom goes to see anybody, although he has exchanged a few visits with Mussolini. If he had important instructions to impart to Finnish leaders it is probable that they would have been summoned to him as was usual heretofore. The fact that he did the visiting, some observers said, indicates he had something to sell.

One view is that Hitler was forced to make the trip to minimize the terrific Royal Air Force poundings of German industrial areas. It was felt possible that the Finns have been quite impressed by the capability of the RAF and that Hitler sought to comfort his northern ally.

Finland's importance to Germany's war plans was seen as a prompting element of the visit, since with Hitler went his supreme commander of the armed forces, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel.

JAPANESE HOPE TO HIT 'FRISCO IN INITIAL RAID

WASHINGTON, June 5 — Rep. Richard Welch (D) Cal., today said that San Francisco is Japan's No. 1 choice for the first bombing raid on an American city.

He expects to obtain from the War Production Board today a release for steel helmets ordered for San Francisco Civilian Defense workers as a precautionary measure.

"More people in Japan know of San Francisco than any other American city," he said, "Japan, for home morale purposes, would rather bomb San Francisco than Washington, New York, Seattle, Los Angeles or any other city."

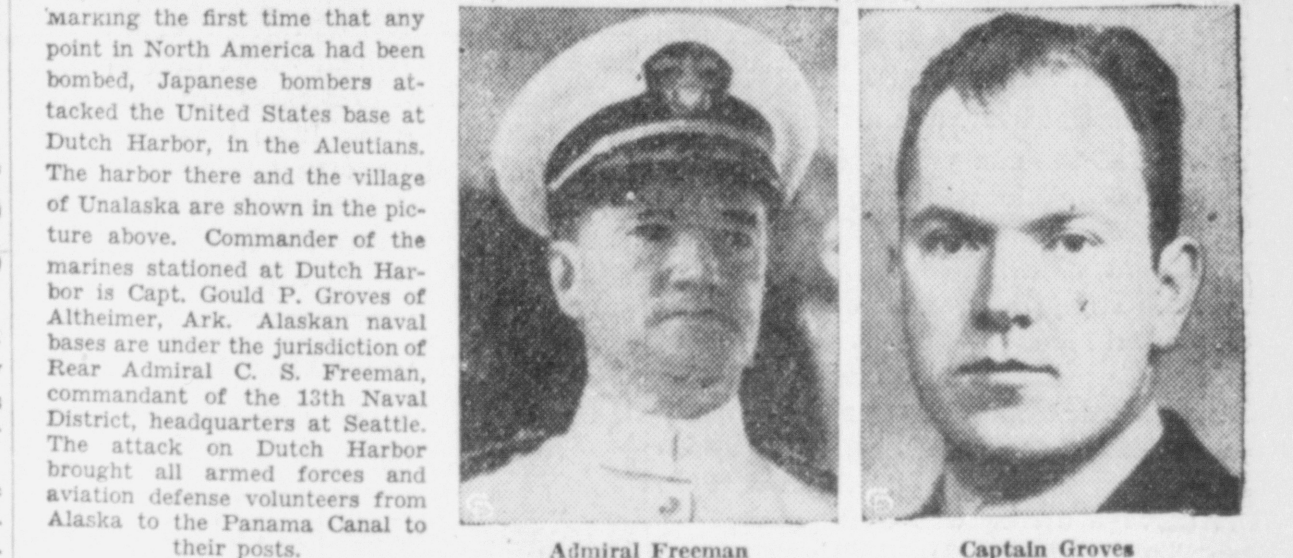

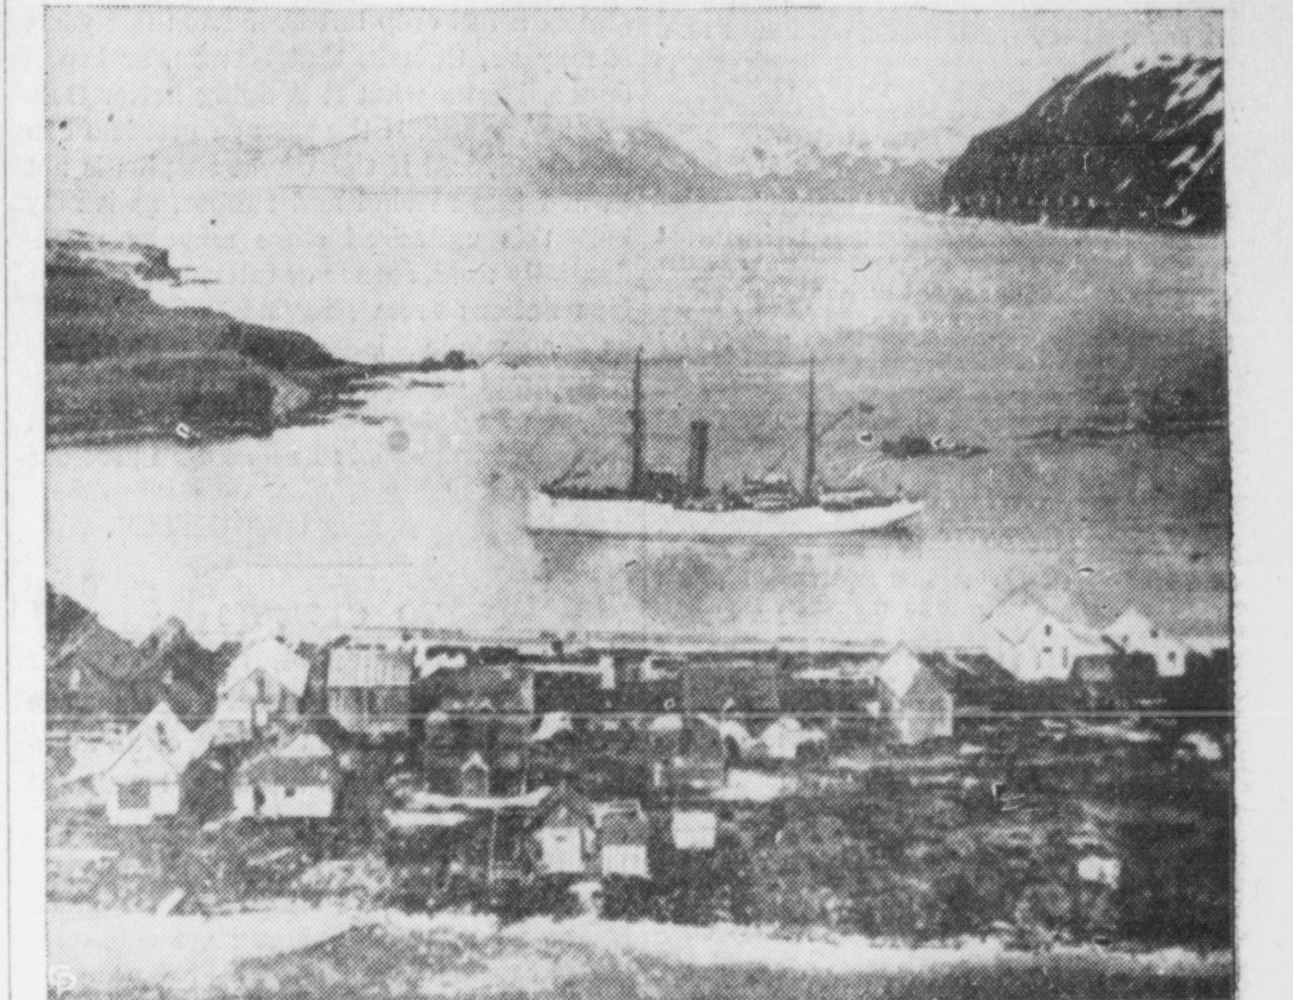

"Our city has been known as the gateway to the Orient. It probably is better known in Japan than any other city in the world."

But since San Francisco is a vital army and navy center, Welch is confident that defenses are so strong that a bombing raid would be repulsed.

WHERE JAP BOMBERS ATTACKED ALASKAN BASE

NOT A BOMBING RAID, BOYS

See those specks coming down from the plane? They're not bombs, photographed in the distance. They are fish, being dropped into a lake in Quebec. Over 500 lakes in the province of Quebec are stocked with speckled trout, rainbow trout, salmon and black bass. The average drop is 100 feet, although trout have come through a 1,000-foot dive without much damage.

TO EVERY ONE

FRIENDS: Pickaway county's salvage campaign has not been officially concluded because salvage continues to pour into various yards where it is being handled for trans-shipment to places where it is most needed. But, despite the fact that the work is not over, it is a foregone conclusion that the campaign, proclaimed by county commissioners and carried out through cooperation by various organizations and individuals, is a huge success. Many thousands of pounds of scrap of all kinds can be seen piled high at junk yards. Even experienced operators of these yards cannot be certain how many pounds have been turned in, but they do say that any guess cannot be high enough. The salvage drive was well planned by Dan McClain, Glenn Marshall and others, and it was carried out with precision and with a spirit of cooperation. Farm residents who had read of its being planned were prepared to help in assuring its success. Thousands of pounds of scrap found idle on farmlands will now be put into Uncle Sam's war effort. Farmers on whose property it was found will benefit, and above all the scrap will be used to manufacture machines of war which will help "set the Rising Sun" once and for all. Praise is due all who had any role in the campaign, and all who willingly manned trucks and traveled to various parts of the county to pick up the much-needed material.

CIRCUITEER.

TO HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES
BOYS, GIRLS: An orchid to all of you as graduates in a class generally regarded by school officials as "one of the best" in Circleville history. Your scholastic standing generally is high; the median of the class being above the average in most graduating groups. The commencement exercise was a splendid one, the addresses of the youthful orators fine, the music outstanding and the principal oration being one to remember for a long time.

CIRCUITEER.

TO FARMERS
FOLK: There is going to be a whopping big harvest this year. Even Nature, it is said, rebelled this year against artificial control, and "volunteer wheat" growing from scattered seed remaining in the soil from last year made thousands of uncultivated acres fruitful. Handling this crop is going to be a problem, and storing it an-

WORLD AT A GLANCE —By— Charles P. Stewart

TO PUT IT that Britain's parliamentary leaders, now seeking a conference in London between themselves and a bi-partisan delegation of our own congressional notables, have in mind an outright federation of all the world's English-speaking countries and dependencies unquestionably to over-express to the extent of the proposed confederation's advocates have in mind.
That is, it's pretty certain that they don't believe an actual federation's a possibility at present, or for some time to come.
The idea was suggested quite a while ago and didn't take very well. Critics raised the question, "Who'd be the federation's head, the king of England or the president of the United States?" The overwhelming consensus, on both sides of the water, was, that on that point, we and the English Islanders (not necessarily inclusive of John Bull's miscellaneous colonies, for Canada might be acquiescent in recognition of Washington's primacy) could never agree on a compromise.
The current scheme, accordingly, contemplates only an inter-congressional-parliamentary bargain relative to war operations right now and to ultimate peace terms.
Why London?
Why is London urged, rather than Washington, as the best place for the discussion? Well, the best guess seems to be that London, as the affair's locale, will give a more inter-Anglo-American impression than one held on the bank of the Potomac. We're accustomed to having English negotiators visit the District of Columbia; they're an old story. But if we send Senators Barkley and McNary, Speaker Rayburn and Representatives McCormack and Martin across to the edge of the Thames, it'll create a sizable splash, as a new thing. They're alleged to have been invited and to be considering whether or not to accept. It's all quite secretive, but appears to be leaking out by degrees. Parenthetically, of course, our lawmakers won't go unless endorsed by the administration, regardless of their respective politics. The most anti-administration congressman in Washington, like Representative Hamilton Fish or Clare Hoffman, wouldn't do such a thing without White House approval.
Anyway, suppose a dozen or so of our conspicuous statesmen make the trip.
What'll be the subject of their own and England's lords' and com-other problem. When the grain is harvested, it will compete for storage space with almost a full crop left over from last year. It may be, though, that Nature, or Providence, knows what it is doing better than all the experts. If the storage problem can be solved, and if the wheat surplus is not turned into alcohol and rubber, as it may be, this undesired store may be providentially used, sooner or later, to keep various nations from starving. The world, as a whole is seriously short of wheat and other grains are the most universal of all foodstuffs. Hoarding grain is at least as sensible as hoarding precious metals.

CIRCUITEER.

TO CYCLISTS
ALL: Boys and girls, too, have their tire problems. The care of a bicycle tire is as important as the care of an automobile tire. Perhaps more so, because it is lighter and more easily harmed. The greatest enemy of a bike tire is heat, which softens it and makes it wear much faster. So the owner should not ride on a hot pavement any more than he has to. The next-worst-enemy is oil or tar, which eats into the rubber and dissolves it. Better keep off the pavement where they appear, and clean off the tires carefully when they get smeared. Aside from these precautions, the most important thing is to keep up the pressure. A soft tire is easily punctured and wears out fast.

CIRCUITEER.

TO FISHERMEN
SPORTSMEN: The weather's right and fishing's good, and the best fishing is done by anglers who pay some attention to the common-sense rules of fishing safety. Here are some suggestions:

1. Wear proper clothing for protection from wind, sunburn and insect bites. Protect your head with a wide brim hat.
2. Carry a flask of drinking water. Never drink from streams or lakes unless the water has been boiled.
3. Be careful in boats, especially when wearing rubber boots and other cumbersome equipment which will hinder swimming.
4. When bait casting from a boat, cast overhead so you won't endanger your companions.
5. Scratches and punctures from hooks and fish teeth often become infected. Carry a first aid kit in your tackle box and sterilize all wounds immediately.
6. Don't attempt to pull a barbed hook from a wound. Push it on around and out through the skin. Cut the barb off and the shank can be withdrawn.
7. Don't take chances in stormy weather. When the weather threatens, head for shore.

CIRCUITEER.

TO BRYAN CUSTER
DEPUTY: Recent exposure of a statewide clothing theft ring came not only as welcome news to persons robbed but also to the entire population of the county. Your desire to remain with the sheriff's department instead of accepting a federal post has been noted and Pickaway county can be proud to have an officer like you on its payroll. The robbery investigation took a lot of time, much of your own perhaps, but the results were worth it and you have achieved another crime solution.

Medical Progress in The Study of Mumps

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
MUMPS IS A disease of late winter and early spring. It is also a disease of childhood, 88 per cent of cases involving children less than 15 years of age. One attack usually affords permanent immunity, but every general practitioner can cite cases of second and even third attacks.
Nine-tenths of city residents above the age of 16 have had mumps, whereas in scattered farm communities, remote from the city, only about 30 per cent of the entire population have had mumps. In some regions only one young adult out of 10 has had it. This explains why pupal nurses and military recruits are apt to come down with the disease within the first three months of their training. Thus mumps becomes a military problem and concerns us in that respect.
Recent research has confirmed the finding of Johnson and Goodpasture in 1934 that mumps is a virus disease. The virus exists in the saliva during the first 48 hours of the disease and can be transferred to monkeys. It has also been transferred to humans when experimental volunteers allowed the virus to be sprayed into their mouths.
These studies in the consideration of mumps, however, have not advanced us in discovering a method of treatment nor has it really helped very much in prevention, although prevention of mumps by the use of convalescent serum after exposure is of established value. The protection afforded lasts only about 14 days and is therefore of value in preventing an epidemic but is of little value once an epidemic is under way.
Mumps affects the salivary glands, and the swelling of the face is due to inflammation of the parotid and sub-maxillary glands. On the whole it is a mild disease in spite of some complications which are troublesome, but its importance is derived not from its severity but from the amount of disability that it causes.
In World War I mumps stood third among the diseases in time lost in the hospital, ranking next to venereal disease and influenza. Undoubtedly with the surge of research work on the virus disease that is going on now, methods of prevention and cure are likely to be found which will mean an increase in the efficiency of the Army personnel.
One of the reasons why mumps causes so much time to be lost is on account of the long incubation period and the long period of quarantine which the medical corps of the Army and Navy insist upon. The incubation period—the time between exposure to the disease and the time when the symptoms appear—is usually at least two weeks. The quarantine period—the time during which an individual is capable of spreading the disease even after the symptoms have subsided—is from six weeks to two months. This quarantine period is not usually insisted upon in civil life, but it always was in my day in Army hospitals and meant, of course, a tremendous loss of time.

MARKING A SQUEEZE
KEEN CARD readers, who listen to the bidding and make clear-cut deductions from it, can sometimes read clearly their only chance to make their contract, or perhaps an extra trick, is by means of a squeeze on a particular opponent. His previous actions mark him with certain cards, which make it perfectly clear that a certain finesse will fail. Knowledge of the structure of both forward and backward squeezes, plus the care to build the correct one, can then decide the issue.

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE
TIBBY HAD wanted to run away, to run and run . . . though this sensation was the same. She was floating, drifting . . . no, it must be that she was flying, flying in the silver ship, high up against the deep blue of a cloudless sky, feeling that wonderful sense of freedom and power, as she always did, with the earth so far, far below, its houses and peoples and cars such minute tiny playthings. This was what she had thought, this renewal of her spirit, this aloneness . . . yet not alone, either, for here, "upstairs," one felt very close to that supreme power, close to truth. Surely here Tibby again would see clearly, be able to look into his heart, find all the answers she was seeking . . . Running, running away . . . no, flying . . . she must remember that she was flying . . . beautifully, effortlessly, like a bird . . . She had wings, as Marg's captain had said, not only her soaring, eager spirit, but her very body . . . That was a lovely thought . . . if you had wings you had no fear of anything, you were indeed free, unconquerable . . . you could not only conquer the earth, and rise above it, but rise to that other world beyond . . . though now Tibby felt herself falling.
She was falling, falling, just as she had been rising upward only a moment before, falling swiftly, cleanly, effortlessly, too. Down, down, away from the deep cloudless blue toward the hard earth. TOO swiftly, TOO cleanly, she was to realize, her nerves that had been so relaxed, jumping to taut attention, her mind, that had been dreaming, leaping back to alertness.
She must do something to stop this downward plunge, something to straighten the silver ship back on its course . . . although she must be falling in a dream, instead of in reality. Often one did fall like this when dreaming, feeling this same forceful momentum pulling one toward the earth, hurling one toward oblivion . . . a common dream with every one . . . a dream going back, so it was said, to one's first primitive ancestors . . . a dream experienced by every small child who from birth has this same awful fear of falling.
Now Tibby was held in fear, frozen in fear, in horror, as she plunged onward, knowing that she could not right the silver ship, no matter how frantic her efforts, knowing that this was no dream, but grim, certain reality. She knew, too, that hard earth waited below to receive her.
She must save the silver ship. . . . Wayne's ship, the gift he had given her to bind her to the promise she in turn had made him. . . . Wayne had said she must not take it up alone . . . must not fly without his knowing. . . . But Wayne had been away . . . she had had to go, had to leave the earth to seek that blessed peace and solitude . . . Save the silver ship . . . that was what mattered . . . fear for it, not for herself . . . for her end would be sure and clean . . . no pain, no lingering . . . to be alive one moment, snuffed out the next . . . the way he would want it . . . That was Marg's captain. . . . Marg had said if he had died this way that that would be the way he'd want it . . . Tommy . . . would you know it had been like that with me? Clean and sure, a single, pure ending. . . . Do not feel badly, do not shed any tears for me . . . save the silver ship, though, somehow.
It was too late now for that . . . too late for anything . . . one's whole life in a flash, as in drowning. . . . The hard earth, grim and certain, coming closer, closing in on one . . . yet, with a last frantic effort she felt she had brought up the nose of the ship slightly, righting it so that that terrific impact would not be so forceful, so that its beautiful silver body would not be broken into small bits.
The explosion filled her ears, her whole head, her body . . . rocking her, the world into a frightful concussion . . . that must be the earth again . . . the good earth . . . dark earth, blackness enveloping her. And then quiet once more . . . peaceful, beautiful quiet . . . serenity . . . sanctuary, even . . . that other world, perhaps, where all was peace and beauty . . . aloneness.
"Drink this," someone said, so that Tibby knew she was not alone after all. Someone's hand holding out a glass, touching her gently. . . . Not in that other world, not dead. . . . "You've been dreaming," the quiet gentle voice told her. "A bad dream, but you're awake now."
So it had been a dream . . . a bad dream. . . . Yes, in a way. Yet a lovely dream, too. In waking, coming back to consciousness, Tibby shivered, living it all over once more, as she was to do time and time again in dreaming . . . knowing now that although she had just been dreaming, it had been reality. She had been flying the silver ship. She had been falling. She had tried desperately to right the plane, falling until that last moment. There had been that awful concussion, too; that hard impact with the ground that shook the whole world, that knocked her into unconsciousness, buried her in darkness.
"How long . . . ?" Her voice sounded far away, although now, having accepted the glass, drunk its contents, new warmth flowed through her veins, new life quickened her pulses. "How long ago?" Now her voice was stronger. The light was stronger, too. She could see the room she was in, a small room, scrubbed, severe, a white

Wilson-Etnier Wedding Ceremony Is Conducted

Member of School Faculty Marries In Columbus

Interesting to friends in Circleville will be the announcement of the marriage of Mr. Robert E. Wilson, commercial teacher of the high school, to Miss Ann Etnier of 512 South James road, Columbus. The informal wedding was Friday, June 5, at 10:30 o'clock in the parsonage of the Bryden Road Methodist church of Columbus with the Rev. G. E. McIntosh officiating.

A smartly fashioned Summer suit of yellow silk was chosen by the bride for her wedding. Her hat matched her suit in color and she used blue and white accessories. White roses and sweet peas formed her corsage.

Mrs. P. C. Routzahn of North Court street was the bride's only attendant and Mr. Harold Wilson, brother of the bridegroom and teacher in the schools of Kenton, was best man.

Mrs. Routzahn wore an attractive silk suit in aqua with brown and white accessories. A clever white hat completed her ensemble, her corsage being similar to that of the bride.

A wedding breakfast for members of the immediate families and close friends was enjoyed at the Marmar at 11:15.

Mrs. Walter H. Nelson and Dr. P. C. Routzahn of Circleville were guests at the wedding and breakfast.

YOUR WASHER

Helpful Hints On The Use And Care Of Your Washer—No 3

Clean and dry both the interior and exterior of the washer after use. Be sure and dry the places where moisture is apt to collect and cause rust. Disconnect the washer by removing the plug before cleaning. Clean and dry the wringer and wringer rolls. The wringer control should be left in neutral position and with the pressure off the rolls when not in use. Occasional waxing of the exterior finish will help preserve it and make it easy to clean. Be sure there is no water left standing in the drain hose. Avoid kinks and bends, too. Be careful with the agitator. If it becomes chipped or scratched it may damage clothes. If your washer is noisy, it may be worn or out of adjustment. Loose and worn parts rapidly increase wear. If the cause cannot be detected or repaired, call a service man.

JIM FOXX WILL STAY ON BENCH FOR FEW DAYS
 CHICAGO, June 5 — Jimmy Foxx's first appearance with the Chicago Cubs was put off for at least three days today despite the announcement that the veteran first baseman, recently purchased from the Boston Red Sox, is not suffering from a broken rib as feared.

A physical examination disclosed, however, that the newest Bruin had some cartilage loosened when he used his chest to stop a line drive recently in batting practice.

Foxx took part in yesterday's pre-game practice, belting one out of the park, but quit with the admission that the workout had aggravated his condition to prevent him from being ready before Sunday or Monday.

Mel Ott Sets Record For Runs Batted Over

By International News Service

Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants today was owner of a new notch on his glorious baseball career. The chunky little pilot, who directs his team from right field, yesterday drove in the 1,583rd run of his 17-year Major league career. This topped by one run the National league record set by Rogers Hornsby in 23 years under the big top. Babe Ruth holds the all-time Major League with 2,209 in his 22 years with the Red Sox, Yankees and Braves.

Willard Marshall helped his boss celebrate the occasion by blasting a home run in the eleventh inning to give the Giants a 4 to 3 victory over the Chicago Cubs. The win was Cliff Melton's seventh. Rip Russell, Cub first baseman, stole part of the show by belting a home run—his third in as many days—in the ninth to send the game into extra innings. Tot Presnell, the third of three hurlers used by the Cubs, was charged with the defeat.

Lon Warneke, the lean veteran with the buggy whip icon, pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 6 to 2 victory over the Boston Braves, giving the Red Birds the odd game of a three-game series. A five-run barrage in the second inning against Rookie Willard Donovan clinched the game for the Mississippi mud bankers. Warneke allowed 10 hits in tallying his fourth victory.

These two contests were the only ones scheduled in the national league.

Yanks, Browns Move
 Over in the American league, the big doublings were thunderous Yankee hitting and a swift climb upward by the St. Louis Browns.

The Browns whipped Washington, 7 to 2, to reach the .500 mark and climb within half a game of the first division. Al Hollingsworth won his third straight as the Browns chugged upwards. Early in the season the Browns lost eleven in a row, then won a series from the Yankees to start the road back.

One big Yankee inning gave the New Yorkers an 8 to 2 victory over the Chicago White Sox and at the same time handed Chubby Edgar Smith his ninth consecutive defeat. The champions blasted all eight runs in the second frame and Smith was allowed to remain on the premises and take his beating until eleven men had gone to bat. Buck Ross stopped Joe Gordon for the third out and held the marauders to two hits thereafter. Gordon, however, ran his hitting string to 20 straight and Buddy Hassett upped his to 15 games.

Hank Browry, rising behind such belligerent platemens, scored his third win in a row.

Detroit eked out an 8 to 7 verdict over Philadelphia. The first six Tiger tallies resulted from home runs by Rudy York, Don Ross and Ned Harris. Jack Walles, rookie Athletic shortstop who was hit on the head yesterday by Hal White, Detroit right-hander and sent to a hospital, was discharged today. X-ray pictures showed no fractures.

Les Fleming doubled with two out in the ninth to give the Cleveland Indians a 4 to 2 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Dom DiMaggio hit a home run for Boston and Buster Mills clouted one for the Tribe.

KASEYS TIGHTEN POSSESSION OF A. A. TOP RUNG

COLUMBUS, June 5 — Kansas City today led the American association by two full games after winning seven in a row, five from Toledo, while St. Paul fell deeper into the cellar by losing nine straight including yesterday's double-header to Indianapolis. Scores were Kansas City 4, Toledo, 2, and Indianapolis 4-5 and St. Paul 3-2.

The Columbus Red Birds edged into fourth place by virtue of their double win over slipping Milwaukee which still retained a two-game lead over Minneapolis for second position. The scores were 3-2 and 14-4. Louisville divided a double-header with Minneapolis, 1-2 and 6-5.

The Blues used three hurlers. Tommy Reiss, Herb Karpel and Francis Shea to check the Hens. Johnny Marcum, tossing 'em for Toledo, saw Kansas City collect four runs in the second frame when Bob Dillinger lost a pop fly in the sun.

Indianapolis, in coping the double header from lowly St. Paul, made it five straight for the series.

Fred Munger pitched and batted yesterday's afterpiece triumph which gave the Red Birds a 3-2 edge in their series with the Brewers. He held the opponent helpless until the seventh and collected four bingles scoring two of the birds' 14 runs. Eddie Lukon also helped himself to four safeties.

For the third successive night, Louisville and Minneapolis divided a double-header. The final game, won by The Colonels, went into 12 innings.

BIG CROWD WILL SEE GREATS OF TRACK IN ACTION

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 5 — A near record crowd was predicted today for the 17th annual Central Collegiate track meet tomorrow night in Marquette stadium.

Chiefly responsible for this prediction, along with the drawing power of the collegiate stars entered, was the announcement that service men will be admitted free by securing tickets from the United Service Organizations.

Notre Dame and Indiana are rated the strongest aggregations for the title the Hoosiers carried off last year. In all, 26 colleges and universities are entered.

MEL HEIN IS OFFERED COLLEGE COACHING JOB

Hein, regarded as the outstanding center in the pro game is considering the offer. Hein has indicated he may play another season of professional football.

New Move Made Toward War Chest Organization

Representatives From Each County District, Seven City Divisions Chosen

Announcement was made Friday of a committee to direct the War Chest movement in Pickaway county. This committee was appointed by an organization unit set up at a meeting of all interested persons May 15. The new committee will meet in the near future to adopt a set of by-laws and a constitution and elect a chairman and other officers to direct the activity.

They will determine the amount of money to be solicited and appoint a board of trustees to issue the funds to the various relief groups working for war purposes as they announce their annual quotas for the county.

The Pickaway County War Chest committee is comprised of two representatives from each township and seven districts in the city.

Following is a list of the members, and the territory that each represents.

Dan McClain and Mrs. William Radcliff, Circleville, district one; Joseph Adkins and Mrs. Allen Thornton, district two; Ned Dresbach and Mrs. James Moffitt, district three; George Griffith and Mrs. Larry Athey, district four; James I. Smith Jr. and Mrs. Virgil Cress, district five; Frank Fischer, Mrs. Ray Davis and James Shea, district six and civic and fraternal organizations; E. S. Neuding, N. L. Cochran and James Yost, district seven and factories and industrial plants.

Charles Walters and Mrs. William Betts Jr., Circleville township; Ward Peck and Mrs. Paul Counts, Wayne township; H. W. Campbell and Mrs. John Dunlap Jr., Deer Creek township; J. F. Willis and Mrs. H. E. Louis, Perry township; Wayne Hoover and Mrs. Frank Bowling, Jackson township; Charles Hosler and Mrs. Marie Walters, Monroe township; Frank Beatty and Mrs. Fannie Brooks, Muhlenberg township; Robert Walker and Mrs. Cleo McKinley, Scioto township and Commercial Point and Orient; Alva Hill and Mrs. Harry Vincent, Darby township; H. O. Peters and Miss Martha Warner, Madison township; Glynn Hoover and Mrs. Paul Cramley, Harrison township; Ashville and South Bloomfield; Hugh Solt and Mrs. Cecil Noecker, Walnut township; Wilson Dunkle and Mrs. Grace Bowman, Washington township; Orley Judy and Mrs. Homer Wright, Salt Creek township; and Turner Pontius and Mrs. Cora Hood, Pickaway township.

SPEAKING CLASS GIVES PROGRAM AT ROTARY CLUB

Members of the Circleville high school public speaking class were featured in the program given at the Rotary Club meeting Thursday. Attendance at the affair was good with special guests from other clubs being present. Among those attending were William Gesling of Lancaster and Ernest Gerber, Arthur Hill, Joe Clark and Denny Pfarr, all of the Chillicothe group. The local club's attendance for the last month was reported as 91.9 percent.

The three members of the school speaking class gave various declamations that were very well received by the club. First was a dramatic declamation by Ned Stout, "Tell Tale Heart" by Edgar Allan Poe. This work is a tale of a man who has been driven mad by the haunting eye of a visitor in his house and how he kills the man and reveals his guilt by being overcome by a guilty conscience. The declamation is very interesting and Stout gave an excellent interpretation.

A humorous tale was then given by William Burget on the theme "Mr. Mischowsky and de Yenk Laddy". This work was confined to mere humor as the main character goes about selling merchandise to a customer.

Another humorous speech was given by Mary Lou Kochheiser, the subject being "At the Swimming Pool". Relating the experience of mother as she tries to learn to dive, the tale was one of complete humor.

Also given by the group was an original declamation written by Ned Stout on "Eternal Vigilance" and recitation of the poem "Gunga Din" by William Burget. The Stout talk dealt with the preparation modern youth must make to combat any future threats of war in this country. Interesting logic was contained in the talk and members of the club were highly pleased with the result of the youth's thoughts.

In recent declamation contest for this school district Burget received a second place for his work and Stout a third ranking.

Fred Watts directed the program in the absence of Samuel Johnson, instructor.

In Tarboro, N. C., captured German cannon from the last war was uprooted to help the salvage drive.

PRICE CEILING QUERIES AND ANSWERS

EDITOR'S NOTE: Questions dealing chiefly with what commodities are covered by the General Maximum Price Regulation are being answered by the CFA. Most of the questions were gathered from letters and telegrams from business men, who have asked interpretations of the regulations effect on their particular lines. In connection with the questions and answers, it was pointed out that commodities sold at retail came under price ceilings May 18, and that services sold at retail will be subject to the regulation, July 1.

POSTING OF PRICES
Q. An ice dealer sells direct to consumers, both from his plant and from delivery trucks. Must he post his ceiling prices both at his plant and on his trucks?
A. Yes.
Q. How should ceiling prices be marked or posted where cost-of-living commodities, such as ice, milk, bread or groceries, are being sold at retail from vehicles?
A. The ceiling prices should be posted on the side of the vehicle nearest the sidewalk, in such manner as to be clearly visible to the passing public. If the price lists are handed out to customers, the ceiling prices should be stamped or printed on the lists.

RECORDS AND REPORTS
Q. May a chain of stores file a blanket statement of maximum prices with the OPA under Section 13 (b) of the regulation, covering all cost-of-living items being handled in all stores, although every store may not have all those items?
A. No. The regulation requires a separate list for each store. But if all the stores in the chain have the same price ceiling for each article, the central office may mimeograph or print a list containing all such items with the maximum prices for each item, and these lists can be submitted separately by each store. If prices are different in some stores, a list of items could be prepared and the prices filled in by each store.

Q. Must a business establishment which customarily has allowed discounts to its employees, list them in the records it is required to prepare on or before July 1, 1942?
A. Yes.

COMMODITIES AND SERVICES COVERED
Q. Is sea moss, used in preparation of medicines, etc., covered by the General Maximum Price Regulation, or is it exempt because it is a crude raw material?
A. Sea moss is covered by the regulation. The regulation makes no blanket exceptions of crude raw materials. It does exclude sales of raw and unprocessed agricultural or greenhouse commodities. Since sea moss is not an
